

PRESIDENT WILSON'S MESSAGE STRIKES RESPONSIVE CHORD

Chief Executive's Trust Message Rouses Expres- sions of Approval

READY TO GO HALF WAY

Wilson Asserts Government and Big Business Are Ready to Meet Each Other to Square Business

WORDS BRING QUICK ACTION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—President Wilson's suggestion to congress today in his trust address that the government and business men are ready to meet each other half way "in a common effort to square business methods with both public opinion and the law," fell on attentive ears and struck a responsive chord in representatives of different parties.

"The atmosphere of co-operation and accommodation" in the message, the reforms proposed expressed in terms of conservatism and the spirit of friendliness to supersede antagonism in dealing with big business which dominated the president's thoughts roused expression of approval from all sides. Few discordant notes were sounded in comments from members of the congress who are to pass upon legislation urged to prohibit monopoly.

Throughout the delivery of the address the assembled senators and representatives listened attentively to every word, applauding frequently when the president began enumeration of evils which he believed needed remedying.

Given General Approval.
His proposal for an inter-state trade commission; the recommendation of laws to prohibit interlocking directorates and holding companies; suggestions for authority to regulate railroad securities; for an act that would fix guilt upon individuals instead of punishing business and that the courts be opened to individuals harmed by illegal business—all of these were received with general approval, evidenced by enthusiastic applause. Before the plaudits of his audience had ceased and as the president was passing from the house chamber where his successive appearances since last April have contributed to the nation's history, his utterances had precipitated action.

Representative Underwood, majority leader of the house was the first to act. As soon as the house reconvened after the joint sessions he offered a motion to refer to inter-state and foreign commerce committee, the suggestions for the creation of an inter-state trade commission and for a law empowering the inter-state commerce commission to regulate the issuance of railroad securities and to the committee on judiciary, the proposals, relating to legislation designed to supplement but not amend the Sherman anti-trust act.

This motion was adopted and it was announced later that both commissions would begin work at once and arrange for public hearings.

Disturb Set Program.

The action of the house in referring portions of the message to the inter-state and foreign commerce committee on which Representative Adamson of Georgia is chairman somewhat disturbed the program mapped out by the judiciary sub-committee headed by Representative Clayton of Alabama which already has held hearings and prepared a tentative draft of a trade commission bill. Representative Clayton vainly had protested against any of the trust regulation program being taken from his committee and while Mr. Underwood was offering his motion to refer, Mr. Clayton and Representative Carlin of Virginia, stood at his elbow pleading that he change his course of action.

Members of the house judiciary committee and members of the senate inter-state commerce committee headed by Senator Newlands of Nevada conferred again on plans for expediting the bills to be submitted. Later Senator Newlands talked with Joseph E. Davies, commissioner of corporations who read the trade commission bill proposed by the judiciary sub-committee.

This measure now will be introduced from the senate committee probably tomorrow.

Progressive There With Hammer.
Expressions on the message came freely from senators and representatives, Democratic, Republican and Progressive. The only unfavorable criticisms emanated from Progressives, Representative Murdock, the third party leader asserting that the suggestions for the solution of the trust evil were "inadequate" and would render the trust evil more acute.

Republican Comment.
One of the most significant comments came from Senator Gallinger,

RELATIVES ATTEMPT TO PROTECT GIRL

JULIA FLAKE MAY NOT BE SEVERELY PUNISHED FOR HER SHARE IN CRIME

Relatives are Shielding Julia From Blame and Assert Higgins is Only Trying to Shield Himself by Saying She Drove Him on—Ernst Asserts Reports of Letters Exaggerated.

GALESBURG, Ill., Jan. 20.—Julia Flake, who confessed to persuading Robert Higgins, her stepfather, to kill her mother in order that she might be married to Higgins, probably will not be punished severely for her share in the conspiracy, according to John M. Wilson, state's attorney for Mercer county. Her relatives are shielding her from blame and tonight Chas. W. Ernst, brother of the dead woman, declared he had Wilson's promise to free the girl if possible. He gave to the state evidence that Mrs. Higgins had been murdered. Ernst gave the state's attorney two letters from his niece asking him to kill her mother.

"Higgins is trying to shield himself by saying Julia drove him on," he said. "I know he lies. She is a mere child, only 15 years old. Reports of the letters Julia wrote me have been exaggerated. She did not offer me half of the $7,000 she expected from her father's estate to kill her mother. Her letters did say she would pay me well if I would do it but Julia told me Higgins himself influenced her to write those notes."

"I didn't take Julia's letters seriously and didn't want my sister because we had had a quarrel and I knew she wouldn't receive me. I insisted on shielding Julia before I gave out the fact. We don't want her prosecuted. She confessed and that fixed Higgins. That's all we wanted."

The girl now is at Ernst's home and visitors today were not allowed to see her.

Higgins, in the Mercer county jail repeated his stories that the girl had coaxed him into the murder, for which he professed no regret.

"On Sunday night January 4th, I had made up my mind to kill her mother," he said. "A girl friend of mine came for a visit and of course, I could not do it then. I met Julia after she had taken her friend to the train. 'You are not a man,' she said. 'You are a coward,' she said. 'To think that I should love a coward.'"

"I was mad and went back to the house. My wife was sitting in a rocker. She kissed me. I sat down near her and reached for the gun. Julia was standing behind me. I fired and my wife fell."

COURT RULING HOLDS NEW WISCONSIN LAW UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Eugenic Law Regulating Issuance of Marriage Licences Declared Void

DISAGREES WITH OWEN

Court Holds Law Does Require the Wasserman Test In the Applicants' Examination

PRAISES LAW'S INTENTIONS

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 20.—The Wisconsin eugenic law regulating the issuance of marriage licenses today was held unconstitutional by Circuit Judge Eschweiler. Among other things, the court says the law which provides for a certificate of health including the Wasserman test is violative of the rights secured by the constitution and that it conflicts with religious liberty because it tends to have marriages.

The court disagreed with the recent ruling of Attorney General Walter C. Owen, who held that the law did not require the Wasserman test. "If the Wasserman test and others are not applied," says the court, "the doctor giving the applicant a clean bill of health would place himself liable to the law against perjury owing to his false statements and his license would be subject to revocation."

The court praises the intentions of the legislators in forming the law.

"Because of its movement toward suppression of sexual diseases," but is condemned because its enforcement is practically an impossibility.

The physicians fee of $3.00 is held to be unreasonable.

The court held that if the state wishes to exercise its right for preventing undesirable marriages it should assume the burden of weeding out the unfit and thereby not cast upon the fit an unfair demand and thus maritally impair an inalienable right. Alfred Peterson and Miss Hattie Schmidt made application for a marriage license at the office of the Milwaukee county clerk on January 2nd, the day on which the Wisconsin eugenic law went into force. Clerk Widel refused the petition because the man did not have a certificate of health from a physician as demanded by the law.

Peterson immediately sought recourse in the courts and today's decision by Judge Eschweiler will enable him to procure the marriage license without medical examination. The supreme court, it is expected will be asked for a final ruling on the constitutionality of the measure. Many marriages have been held in Wisconsin since the law went into effect, but the Milwaukee case was the only court action begun.

ATTEMPTS TO REMOVE CONVENTION FAIL

EFFORTS TO MOVE CONVENTION FROM INDIANAPOLIS ARE IN VAIN

Delegates in Session of United Mine Workers Convention Adopt Resolution Urging Federal Investigation of Michigan Copper Strike and Colorado Coal Strike.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 20.—Two attempts were made late today to remove the convention of United Mine Workers of America which opened this morning from this city but both failed. It is probable another effort will be made when the resolutions committee reports tomorrow.

Delegate Patrick McGee of Pawnee, Ill., tried to get a resolution before the convention to move to another city but was ruled out of order by President John P. White. The other attempt was made by two Pennsylvania delegates, E. D. Reed of Brownville, and William Hynes of Fayette City. Reed made a motion to suspend the rules and Hynes read the resolution. On a standing vote, the motion to suspend the rules was lost. Two delegates, Samuel Montgomery of Montgomery, W. Va., and W. R. Fairley of Pratt City, Ala., started for Washington this afternoon to work for the resolution before congress authorizing federal investigation of the copper strike in Michigan and the coal strike in Colorado. The trip was authorized by resolution adopted unanimously at the morning session.

Other business of the afternoon was the reports of President White, Frank J. Hayes, vice-president and William Green, secretary-treasurer.

President White in his report touched briefly on the Christmas disaster at the office of the department of President Charles H. Moyer of the Western Federation of Miners.

"It is to be hoped," said President White, "that the horrible disaster which occurred on Christmas eve at Calumet, where scores of lives were lost by a false cry of fire, supposed to have been inspired by an enemy of the strikers, will be thoroughly and impartially investigated and the guilty party punished."

The brutal assault on President Moyer, as well as his deportation from the strike zone, is another evidence of the lawlessness practiced by the so-called exponents of law and order."

Details Progress of Strikes.

Mr. Hayes detailed the progress of the strikes in Colorado and in West Virginia and declared that drastic measures should be taken to amend or repeal the Sherman anti-trust law so that it could not be applied to labor organizations.

He paid tribute to the work of "Mother" Mary Jones, who is under arrest in Colorado because of her alleged inflammatory actions and speeches. The convention voted unanimously to send a telegram to "Mother" Jones expressing "love and admiration for your gallant stand for humanity" and demanding her immediate release.

"Be of good cheer and rest assured that justice yet will triumph in corporation-owned Colorado," the message concluded.

Mr. Green told of the growth of the organization and the finances of the previous year. He said the union now had $3,000,000 every dollar of which could be used as a strike defense fund.

FIST FIGHT BETWEEN REPRESENTATIVE AND LAWYER IS EXCITING

Trouble Between Rep. Johnson and Washington Attorney Near-Tragedy

LAWYER HUSTLED AWAY

John R. Shields Is Hustled Away from Danger as Representa- tive Goes for His Pistol

FEAR STAMPEDES SPECTATORS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—A fist fight between Representative Ben Johnson of Kentucky and John R. Shields, a Washington lawyer broke up a meeting today in the house district of Columbia committee room and for a time threatened to end in a tragedy. Committee clerks separated the men after both had landed telling blows, then Representative Johnson with blood streaming down his face, broke away and dashed into his private office shouting:

"Let me get my pistol, I'll kill him!"

Someone closed the door and held it and before the enraged congressman re-appeared, Shields had been hustled away, leaving his coat and hat behind and committeemen and spectators had made a hasty retreat, some of them taking refuge behind the marble columns of the corridors until they were satisfied there was to be no shooting.

Tonight the incident apparently was closed.

Representative Johnson said he "had been in the game too long to keep on when a fight's over" and Shields issued a statement declaring he had acted in self-defense and indicating he did not expect any after math.

Accusation Causes Trouble.

The trouble started while a sub-committee of the district committee of which Representative Johnson is chairman, was hearing Representative Kahn of California, argue for a bill to allow Washington crossing policemen to ride free on trolley cars when in uniform. Mr. Shields was present to support the bill.

Representative Johnson entered the room just as Representative Kahn concluded and declared he had learned that Shields had collected a fee of four or five thousands dollars from crossing policemen for "lobby activities" in connection with a bill increasing the policemen's salaries, passed by the last congress. Chairman Crocker of the sub-committee saw trouble impending and announced a recess.

"I want to be heard," insisted Shields, "I want an opportunity here to reply to these unfounded charges. They are utterly false."

Johnson Strikes First Blow.

With a bound, Representative Johnson rounded the table and, striking Shields on the cheek, sent him to the floor. The lawyer struck his chin on a chair on the way down, but he was up in a minute, retaliating with a blow which started the blood from a cut over Johnson's right cheek bone. The men exchanged blows freely for a moment, then Shields clinched and was pounding away on the congressman's head when Sam Eskew and Fred Allen, clerks of the committee interfered and drew Johnson away. In the meantime, Representative Winslow of Massachusetts, threw his arms around Shields and pulled him out into the hall. As Johnson started for the door to his private office crying he would kill the lawyer, the spectators stamped to the corridors. A few minutes later when the Kentuckian, with a towel in one hand re-appeared, he found only an empty committee room.

Would Pay Shields for Services.

Later in the day the sub-committee called a dozen crossing policemen, who testified that during the last congress they had contracted to pay Shields certain sums in the event he devoted his efforts to securing the passage of a bill increasing their pay and giving them annual leave. Under the contract they said the men who had their pay increased from $75 to $100 a month were to pay Shields $10 a month for the first year after the bill passed. The hearings will be continued.

ASKS FOR COMMUNITY ORGANIZING OF FARMERS

DR. CARVER ADDRESSES NATIONAL LIVESTOCK ASSOCIATION

Director of Rural Organization Service Advocates Increased Social Activity on Part of Farmers' Wives and Daughters—Home Lives Should Be Pleasant.

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 20.—An appeal for community organizations of farmers and for increased social activity on the part of farmers' wives and daughters, was made late today to livestock men from all over the nation who are here in attendance upon the seventeenth annual convention of the American National Livestock association by Dr. T. N. Carver, director of rural organization service of the federal department of agriculture. Organization, he said, is the best way and only practical one, by which the farmer may improve his status in every way. He urged the formation of communities into groups who would take up questions of production, marketing and improvement of lands. On the other hand, he warned the farmers against allowing such organizations to be made the means of exploitation of unit machinery by unscrupulous companies and cited instances of creamery organizations which frequently had done their members gross injustice because of their being made the channels through which poor machinery was sold.

The lives of the women on the farm came in for much of Dr. Carver's attention. He declared that their home lives should contain more pleasure and less drudgery, and said that more companionship with other farm women would result in a feeling of co-operative friendliness among the farmers of a community which would rebound to the financial and moral welfare of all concerned. Dr. Carver suggested that the farm woman should spend much of her time beautifying the home place and making it the haven "for retired farmers," instead of the towns and cities in which, he believed, a large portion of those farmers who had accumulated a degree of wealth made their final homes. Dr. Carver could find no excuse for the lack of attractiveness which he had found in many farm houses and declared it his belief that much of migration of farmers' children to cities could be checked if the farm house became a farm home. The organization of community farmers, he explained would be an impelling factor in bringing about more pleasant home surroundings on every farm, as well as effecting financial gain for the farmers.

CLOVER LEAF COMPANY DECLARES DIVIDEND

ANNUAL MEETING OF STOCKHOLDERS IS HELD.

Reports of the Officers Show the Business to be in Exceptional Flourishing Condition. Increase of Policies Written, 47.5 per cent Over Last Year.

The annual stockholders meeting of the Clover Leaf Casualty company was held Tuesday at the company's offices in this city. This meeting was of unusual interest and largely attended. A semi-annual cash dividend of five per cent was paid to stockholders. The reports of the officers showed the business to be in an exceptionally flourishing condition, there being an increase of over $32,000.00 in premium income over the previous year. The condition of the company with respect to its agency organization throughout the four states in which it is operating, was reported to be in better condition than ever before. The total number of policies written during 1913 was an increase of 47.5 per cent over the number of policies written during the preceding years.

The company adopted a line of six new policies which went into effect September 1, 1913. The strong and favorable comments of the company's representatives in the field, and the enthusiasm displayed over the new policies has proven that the Clover Leaf is writing the best industrial accident policies on the market. During the coming year the company's efforts are being redoubled to earnestly co-operate in bettering conditions of their agents, so that their representatives are sure of sound support and helpful encouragement in building up business. The conditions reported were never brighter for a record breaking business during the coming year.

Report of President.

The annual report of the president, Fred H. Rowe, was full of enthusiasm and interest. He said in part: "Our agency report shows an increase of two and one-fourth times that of the previous year. The actual increase in premium income in 1913 is $25,000 or 25 per cent. The main question to be arrived at is whether that business has been done at a profit—whether the agency, the claim and general expense accounts have been kept within proper bounds or within such limits as to make the business profitable. * * * *"

The financial report of the company shows a total income of $144,000.00 an increase of $32,000.00 over the previous year; and an increase in surplus from $17,000.00 to $32,000.00.

The following from the President's report gives a comparative statement for the years 1912 and 1913:

For year 1912.
Gross Assets	$127,173.08
Ledger Balance	121,528.26
Admitted Assets	119,958.34
Surplus	17,098.68
For year 1913.
Gross Assets	$144,590.69
Ledger Balance	138,990.69
Admitted Assets	137,223.25
Surplus	32,337.45
Increase in surplus for 1913—	$15,238.77

"To accomplish this record," said President Rowe, "in a year rather remarkable for accident by storm and flood, means that we have had a multitude of faithful workers in every department."

In speaking of the new policies Secretary C. Y. Rowe in his report said, "The strong and favorable comments of our agents and their enthusiasm over our new policies is a sure fore-runner of unlimited public approval. Our work during the last year has redoubled our belief in the monthly installment plan of paying premiums. It enables thousands to protect themselves and families who would not do so on any other plan."

So wonderful has been the growth of the Clover Leaf Casualty company that it can easily rank as one of the valuable assets to Jacksonville. During its seven years of existence there has been brought to the city in premium policies written, $423,111.00, almost half a million of dollars.

Two directors whose terms expired were re-elected yesterday and Thomas J. Kelly was elected to fill a vacancy on the board. The meeting of the Board of Directors was held this morning at 10 o'clock.

State Chairman Who Admits Crime In Political Graft Hunt.

Arthur A. McLean of Newburg, N. Y., a wealthy merchant and treasurer of the Democratic state committee, is the first big fish to become entangled in the net of District Attorney Charles S. Whitman, who is conducting a political graft hunt. Treasurer McLean, indicted for accepting campaign contributions from corporations, pleaded guilty to the indictment on advice of counsel. Sentence was suspended by Justice Lavis. District Attorney Whitman promises additional sensations in his graft probe.

Directors of Anti-Tuberculosis League Held Meeting—Interesting Figures Presented in Report of Mrs. J. Franklin Brown.

At a recent meeting of the directors of the Morgan County Anti-Tuberculosis League Mrs. J. Franklin Brown submitted her report as chairman of the local committee having in hand the sale of the Red Cross Christmas seals. From this report the following items of general interest are selected:

There were sixty thousand seals ordered, and received.

The total expenses were $8.85, largely express and postage.

About 20,000 pieces of advertising matter were distributed. These were blotters containing advertising, 15 page "Facts About Tuberculosis," "Fence or Ambulance," poem, "Tuberculosis Day Prayer," etc.

All of this advertising matter was furnished free by the State Anti-Tuberculosis association, our local association only paying the expressage.

For the sale of the stamps the following general methods were employed:

(1) Stamps were placed with about 40 stores for public sale.

(2) Stamps were placed with 11 Jacksonville Sunday schools and with 17 County Sunday schools.

(3) Stamps were placed with the Seventh and Eighth grades of the city schools.

(4) A number of ladies were appointed to sell stamps in the business district.

(5) Salesladies were stationed in the post office and in certain stores.

From the various sources was collected a total of $400.11. In other words 40,011 stamps were sold.

For the Sunday schools a beautiful silk banner was offered to the school selling the most stamps according to its average attendance, this banner to be held by the winner until the next contest.

The banner was won by the Congregational Sunday school, whose average attendance is 60; stamps sold $13.20, an average per pupil of 22. State Street Presbyterian, who won the banner last year, came second with an average attendance of 125 and 1769 sold, an average per pupil of 14. The following list shows the sales of the other Sunday schools in the city:

	Aver. Attend.	Stamps Sold
Episcopal	30	309
Westminster	125	942
Grace	300	3000
Baptist	325	1624
Christian	450	1754
Centenary	175	1207
Brooklyn	90	653
M. E. Mission, Cox St.	25	30

For the first time stamps were sent to the Country Sunday schools and the work here was most satisfactory. It is felt that a beginning was made and that another year when the work is more fully understood, the county Sunday schools will not be behind those of the city. Indeed it is expected that next year the banner will be won by one of the country schools. This year one Littleberry school sold 220, largely through the push of D. K. McCarthy, while another through the work of W. H. Crum sold 500. Arthur Swain's school at Sinclair sold 500. J. K. Cunningham's at Murrayville sold 560. Charles Gibbs' at Lynnville 100, Harry Onken's at Chapin

50, Edward Cooper's at Concord 55. John Erikson's at Alexander 100. LeRoy Brandon, Franklin, 100. Will Arnold 133, and F. E. Drury's Orleans school 100. The thanks of the association are especially due to these men who pioneered the way in the country.

In the city schools the First ward sold 953, the Second ward 125, the Third ward 235 and the Fourth ward 402. While the Seventh and eighth grade sold 3000. In speaking of the Seventh and Eighth grades Miss White, their teacher, said she had never seen the children take on anything as they did this stamp sale. That no urging or pushing was necessary. The secret being that they were really interested. All of which shows that the children are becoming aroused to the importance of good health even though their parents are not. When it is remembered that it will be the children who will die of tuberculosis it is certainly encouraging to find that they are objecting.

Illinois Woman's college sold 1373, the Waverly Household Science club $5.70. The last mentioned club of their own accord sent in for stamps. Last year even after two of our well known women had visited averly the total stamps sold numbered 5 in that prosperous village. Which simply indicated the public interest in tuberculosis.

Mrs. C. C. Dickson was the champion seller, her number being 6810.

From the total amount of sales $400.11, 77 1-2 per cent of $308.08 remains here to help in the fight against tuberculosis while 22 1-2 per cent or $91.03 goes to the state work. However it must be remembered that Morgan county gets its share of this. For it is this fund which pays for the advertising matter we use. Also for the assistance of the state agents who are always pushing the work. Last year we had here the services of Miss Fulmer, the state extension secretary for over a month without expense to our local association.

To those named above and to each one who helped, the directors extend their heartfelt thanks and especially to Mrs. Brown, who gave so much of her time and to whose untiring work the successful outcome is so largely due.

Let each one who reads these words remember that the stamping out of tuberculosis is simply a question of community action. We can do it. You can help. Let us place Morgan county at the head of the procession in Illinois.

Dramatic and realistic, "Love's Sunset" is a great achievement in moving picture production. Its action is swift and telling. It touches the heart strings of human nature. It proves conclusively that real drama is as at home on the screen as it was in the Shakespearean playhouse. You will agree with this criticism when you see "Love's Sunset," presenting Earle Williams, Clara Kimball Young and Darwin Karr.

Weihl's Midwinter Sale!

THE PURCHASE OF TAILORED APPAREL

is like any other purchase—it does not pay to skimp quality. There is no satisfaction in owning an inferior suit of clothes—no pride of possession. You know, and so does any one else familiar with clothes, that it possesses no marks of individuality.

Quality demands a fair purchase price. When a suit or overcoat is offered at a ridiculously low price, you may be assured that they are not clothes you would care to own; that however absurd the sum you pay, you are not receiving fair value for it.

We carry the finest grade of woollens obtainable, and we offer the most reasonable prices possible, quality considered.

RETURNS FROM MARKET.
John L. Johnson has returned from Chicago where he went to buy furniture for the firm of Johnson, Hackett & Guthrie. He says that a great many furniture manufacturers have space in some of five large buildings in the great city and have samples of their goods there all the time and twice a year make special exhibits one of which is now on. By this means a dealer is enabled to select from immense lines of samples what he thinks will suit his trade and vastly less time and expense than would be required to visit even a small number of the houses represented.

THIS BANK— REAL BANKING SERVICE

Real Banking Service is more than a matter of dollars and cents—more than a matter of principal and interest.

Real Banking Service is based on human interest and principles.

A man or woman, boy or girl starts an account—this at first only represents so much money.

As time goes on the depositor learns that this bank means more to him than merely a place to put his money. He acquires the banking habit, gets acquainted with the bank officials and forms a bank relationship—more than merely an acquaintance.

He becomes known at the bank. In time business or professional opportunities come. He needs advice or help. He comes to this bank for it. The advice he receives is dependable and is cheerfully given.

He finds that character, personality, individuality—call it what you may—is a real business asset—one that he can bank on—one that is a great help to him in his business affairs.

Later he has us draw his will, makes us his executor, knowing that our charges are moderate, that in case of his death his estate will be handled by men who know how and that his wishes will be carried out promptly, economically and safely.

For this is his bank. The bank knows him—helps and advises him on matters financial, just as his doctor and lawyer advise him on matters of health and law.

TRUNKS OF ELEPHANTS.

They Serve Many Purposes and Take the Place of Hands.

Elephants are interesting because they have such varied feelings, such a wide range of intelligent appreciation. Doubtless this is in part due to the possession in the trunk of an organ the development of which has itself permitted development of brain power. Very great brain power could not have been developed as an accompaniment merely of hoofs; hands, however imperfect, were necessary or something else that would serve as a partial substitute for hands.

By watching a herd of elephants any one can speedily see the large range of uses to which the trunk is put and the large range of needs and emotions which it develops and satisfies. During courtship the bull and cow caress one another with their trunks. Elephants are very curious, and the trunks are used to test every object which arouses their curiosity. The cow is constantly fondling and guiding the calf with her trunk. The trunk is used to gather every species of food and to draw water. It is used to spurt dust or water over the body. It is used to test rotten and dangerous ground. It is in constant use to try the wind so as to guard against the approach of any foe.

As one watches the great beasts the trunks continually appear in the air above them, uncurling, twisting, feeling each breath of air. Now and then a great ear is flapped. Now and then the weight of the body is slightly shifted from one colossal leg to another. The huge beasts are rarely entirely motionless for any length of time. Nor are they long silent, for aside from subdued squeaks or growls and occasional shrill calls there are queer internal rumblings. Their eyes are very bad. Like the rhino, they can only see as a very nearsighted man sees. At a distance of eighty yards or so, when in my dull colored hunting clothes, I could walk slowly toward them or shift my position without fear of discovery.—Theodore Roosevelt in Scribner's Magazine.

PILGRIMS IN INDIA.

They Travel Packed in Trains Like Sardines in a Box.

Of course pilgrims in India usually travel third class, and the best of such accommodations makes no provision for comfort. Most of the carriages are divided into small cubicles, with long, narrow wooden benches running along the two sides. There is no convenience of any kind, and the travelers are packed into the compartment like so many sardines in a tin.

On festive occasions, when Hindus journey by the hundred thousand to the sacred spots, it is a sight worth traveling many miles to see a pilgrim train bound for some shrine on the Ganges. When it stops at a wayside station scores of intending passengers try to force their way into the already closely packed third class carriages by battering down the locked doors or even endeavoring to crawl through the windows over the heads and shoulders of the occupants. The police use their batons freely to drive the invaders away, but usually a few manage to evade the constables and secure a foothold on the train.

Sometimes the authorities are compelled to carry passengers in open trucks. They plant themselves in the bottom of these cars and remain there, exposed to the inclemencies of the weather, for ten, twenty, thirty, forty hours at a stretch, one treading on the toes of the other—fretful babies crying, men and women grumbling—until the end of the journey is reached.—Wide World Magazine.

Education and Suicide.

The American Practitioner declares that suicide increases with education and civilization and adds: "It has been said that the spread of the alphabet is coincident with that of self murder. The savage rarely takes his own life. In Italy, Russia and Spain, where the standard of education is low, the fewest suicides on the continent of Europe occur, while in France and Germany, where the people are more sensitive and refined and where the standard of education is higher, the percentage is much increased."

How the End Will Come.

The professor of natural phenomena had acquired a gasoline car. "The day is coming," he said to his class a few weeks later, "when the tire will sag and punctures pierce the inner tube and the casing blister—and then this old earth of ours will have a blowout that may shake the dog star from its kennel and hurl the dipper to kingdom come!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Impossible.

Exe—What ridiculous, impossible things these fashion plates are! Mrs. Exe—I know they used to be, but to-day many of them are engraved from photographs. Exe—Well, this one can't be. Here are two women going in opposite directions, both with brand new gowns on and neither looking back at the other.—Boston Transcript.

Parental Effort.

"What are you working so hard for?" "I want to provide for my boy's future," replied Farmer Cornstossel. "I want to lay by enough wealth so that I can leave Josh this farm for a golf course!"—Washington Star.

Education is all paint. It does not alter the nature of the wood that is under it. It only improves its appearance a little.—Stanhope.

The stockholders of the Jacksonville Monument Company at their business session yesterday elected the following officers:

President—W. H. Withee.
Treasurer—J. V. Kennedy.

As was mentioned in Tuesday's Journal the parties bringing suit against the Monument company upon investigation found that the charter for the company was issued out of the secretary of state's office last July, and that the company was duly organized under the laws of the state. The agreement to compromise on file in the circuit clerk's office says: "F. H. Rowe, R. Y. Rowe and G. C. Rockwood, accounted to the said Jacksonville Monument Co., for all funds of the company that came into their hands on the sale of stock, or from any source whatever, and that there was and is now nothing due from them to the Jacksonville Monument company and that the suit is settled between the parties and is to be dismissed when court meets." As mentioned the complainants bought all the stock owned by Mr. Rowe and his friends and will continue the business.

FOREIGN BANKERS DISCUSS BANK METHODS OF THEIR COUNTRIES

Monetary Systems of Germany, England and France Are Discussed at Banquet in New York.

New York, Jan. 20.—Banking methods of their countries were the subjects which three prominent foreign bankers presented at a banquet given by Bankers Group VIII of the New York State Bankers' association. Dr. Jacob Reisser of Berlin, dealt with banking in Germany and the position of the Reichsbank. James H. Simpson, of Liverpool described the English monetary system and its relation to the bank of England and Robert Masson spoke on the currency and credit system of France.

James S. Alexander, president of the National Bank of Commerce of New York the toastmaster of the evening, in his introductory remarks said the federal reserve act contained many desirable features and that bankers would lend their assistance to make the law a success through the medium of amendments.

Dr. Reisser sketched the status and the character of the German Reichsbank, which he said was a semi-public institution under the management of the empire and capitalized at $45,000,000 privately subscribed. Its statutory reserves, he said, stood at present at $17,500,000.

After explaining the method of administration of the bank and its many branches throughout the empire Dr. Reisser said that from the German point of view a banking law subject to politics was doomed to failure.

"Politics," he said "may sometimes spoil the character, they will always spoil business."

The speaker concluded with the statement that all institutions sooner or later will perish unless they remember at all times, that there is something higher than the exclusive pursuit of one-sided and egotistic professional and private interests.

Mr. Simpson made "some leading features of the London money and discount market," his topic and after describing the principal public and private banking operations in Great Britain, went into their bearing on banking and commerce in the United States. This national discount market, he said, and the establishment of the principal money markets of Europe would be highly desirable.

Mr. Masson paid much attention to currency matters as they relate to the actual circulation of coin and other media of exchange. He said he hoped the new currency measure of the United States would prove an unqualified success.

Wilson Unable to Attend.
A letter from President Wilson regretting his inability to be present was read. The president gave the pressure of engagements as his reason for declining and added:
"It is decidedly out of the question for me to add any more without simply shutting myself out from all opportunity to work upon important subjects out of office hours. It would be very unconscientious for me to give myself any further absence from my desk, for evenings are the only time I have for myself."

WILL INVESTIGATE SANITY OF GEORGE HAM

Mr. Ham is seventy four years of age and well known in this county.

FREE OYSTER SUPPER AT CONCORD.

The most notable event of the season occurred Saturday night last when in response to a general invitation of James H. Silcox, everybody was cordially invited to come and partake of a free oyster supper. Mr. Silcox is generally known as a free and generous hearted man but such tremendous liberality was unlooked for and this invitation to a free oyster supper met with a hearty response. People came on foot, on horseback, in carriages and autos.

The large store room in the Masonic building was crowded to its fullest capacity, late comers having to push their way to gain an entrance. The scene was a brilliant one, thronged, as the well lighted room was with ladies and gentlemen. All felt free in the friendly atmosphere and good fellowship of the occasion. The music was fine, and as the band played the people gave evidence that they were enjoying the program heartily. The band boys of Merritt are popular at Concord and they gave an especially fine program.

The ladies aid society of the M. E. church was engaged to cook and serve the oysters and no fault could be found with their manner of serving.

The free oyster supper was a big thing—a grand success—and will be remembered with pleasure both by Mr. Silcox and his many guests.

OBITUARY OF GEO. W. EVANS.

George Washington Evans was born March 4, 1851 near Mauvis Terre, northeast of Jacksonville, Ill.

He was one of a family of ten children, and the last surviving member of the family of Gabriel and Elizabeth Evans, who came to Illinois in the pioneer days, settling northeast of Jacksonville, and afterward removing to a farm near Franklin, Ill. Here our deceased brother grew to manhood and resided until his marriage to Miss Sophronia Jane Kennedy on May 28, 1873, who has shared the joys and sorrows of life with him for more than forty years. To this union there were born six children, all of whom survive: Mrs. Ada M. Maginn, Mrs. Bertha A. Voigt, Mrs. Ida K. Eck, Edward G. Evans, Mrs. Fannie Scramm, and Joseph O. Evans. All the children are residents of Waverly with the exception of Mrs. Bertha A. Voigt, whose home is in Ottumwa, Iowa.

After his marriage, Mr. Evans removed to a farm in the Little York neighborhood northwest of Waverly, and resided there until the fall of 1900 when he retired from the active life of the farm and removed to Waverly, where he has since resided, and where he has become so well and favorably known. In the winter of 1886 he was converted in a meeting held at the Little York church, conducted by the Rev. H. M. Hamill and united with the church at that place, the pastor, not being ordained at that time, he was baptized and received into the church by the presiding elder, the Rev. Rev. John A. Krumler, of Jacksonville. He continued his relation with the Little York church until his removal to Waverly, at which time he had his membership transferred to the First Methodist Episcopal church, where he has been one of the faithful and consistent members during his residence here. In February 1900, the deceased became a member of the local lodge of the K. P. and at the time of his death was one of the trustees of the order.

Mr. Evans was a loving and tender husband and father, and his wise and far seeing counsel and admonition will be sorely missed by the members of his immediate family. He was a good neighbor, friend and citizen, unobtrusive in his life, and yet standing for all that was for the betterment of the community or the state. He was always found on the right side of every moral question. He always had a kindly greeting for his friends and acquaintances. Many expressions of appreciation were spoken during his illness and since his decease. Mr. Evans has been in failing health for several years, but has been able to attend to his business affairs until within ten days, his last sickness, being caused by a severe cold which terminated in pneumonia. In his feeble condition his constitution could not conquer the disease, and on Friday morning Jan. 16, his weary body sunk beneath the load, and his spirit went to be with its Maker.

Beside those above, Mr. Evans is survived by seventeen grandchildren, and numerous relatives, and his many friends who sincerely mourn the passing of a good man and friend. He will be missed in the community, missed by his friends and neighbors, missed in the church, but more than all in the home circle. The following lines from a modern singer seem appropriate:

"To be repaid;
Soon the dark Comer's at the door,
The debt is due; the dream is o'er,
Life's but a shade.

Thus all decline that bloom or shine,
Both star and flower shed,
A life gone out, a spirit fled,
A funeral hour.

Then let us show a tranquil brow

What e'er befalls;
That we upon life's latest brink
May look on death's dark face—and think
An angel calls.

The funeral services were held in the First Methodist Episcopal church, Sunday afternoon at one o'clock, conducted by Rev. J. S. Smith, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. L. A. Holp, and Rev. E. C. Lucas. The church was filled to its utmost capacity by sympathizing friends and neighbors. The services at the cemetery were in charge of the Knights of Pythias.

THE SIGN MAN

COLLECTING PLAYERS

THREE MAJOR LEAGUE PITCHERS SIGN; QUARTETTE OF UMPIRES COMPLETED.

Russell Ford, Howard Camnitz and Edgar Willet Join "Outlaw" League—Federals Will Gain Possession of North Side Grounds in Chicago.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—While representatives of organized ball again predicted its early demise the Federal League today continued collecting major league players, signing three pitchers as well as completing a quartette of umpires. The pitchers signed are, Russell Ford, of the New York Americans, who will be with the Chicago Federals; Howard Camnitz of the Philadelphia Nationals who will go either to Indianapolis or Pittsburgh; and Edgar Willet, the Detroit pitcher, who was signed by Mordecai Brown, manager of the St. Louis team of the new league.

The battle to gain possession of the North Side grounds on which the new league is to play ball here was won by the Federals today according to President Gilmore and Charles Weeghman, head of the local club, when the latter delivered a large amount of cash to the holder of a lease on a strip of land, which if held by an enemy would have made ball playing impossible on the field.

The Federal leaguers out-generated and out-bid representatives of organized ball in the effort to get the strip, they said, but President Johnson of the American League denied all knowledge of any attempt to talk to them. President Johnson, however, declared that opposition of nearby property owners might prevent the opening of the Federal's season here and at the same time said he hoped for the "good of baseball" that the Federals would begin their season, though he pronounced absurd any hope that the league would succeed.

With the signing of Steve Cusack, the former National Leaguer who was with the Three Eves last year, Monte Cross, the former star infielder and C. C. Bush, once a big league umpire, President Gilmore's staff includes four veteran arbitrators, William Brennan having signed yesterday.

Expects All Regulars to Sign.

Philadelphia, Jan. 20.—Connie Mack, manager of the World's champion Athletics announced today that the names of the players who have signed contracts for the coming season on the list including all the regulars with the exception of Pitches Combs and Plank, Catcher Thomas and Captain Dan Murphy. The last named player is away on a hunting trip and the other uncontracted men will send in their contracts in a few days it was stated.

In addition to Melvin Collins, Barry and Baker, Orr and Cruthers have signed as infielders. Lavin, another substitute has not yet signed and may not be with the team this year.

Several new pitchers are revealed in Mack's long string. They are A. Baker, Vandever, Boken and Graves and the young catchers signed up are McAvoy and Sturgis.

The outfielders besides E. Murphy, Strunk and Oldring include Daly, Thompson and Brickley, the latter a brother of Harvard's star fullback.

Will Interest Feeders.

In this space from week to week feeders of cattle and hogs, and for that matter of all farm animals, will find some very valuable matter. Charles Wood, who during twenty years has fed 8,000 cattle and conducted many experiments in feeding, has reserved the space to tell the public generally about the methods he has found the best.

Mr. Wood's plan for getting best results is by the use of his improved grain softener and of his recently invented stover rack and troughs. The two, used in conjunction, double the nutrient value in corn and produce results which are guaranteed.

Here are the results which this method will produce and Mr. Wood is ready to guarantee the figures:

1 bushel of No. 2 corn will produce	20-lbs. pork; 12-lbs. beef.
1 bushel of No. 3 corn will produce	18-lbs. pork; 10-lbs. beef.
1 bushel of No. 4 corn will produce	16-lbs. pork; 9-lbs. beef.

Feeders will find the use of this method the surest way to make dollars. Watch this space for further facts on this subject.

leader of the Republican minority in the upper house who represents the most conservative type of Republicanism.

"The president's recommendations are moderate," said Senator Gallinger, "and for the most part wise. It seems to me there is nothing in the recommendations that need disturb business men, or that would justify radical legislation."

Kenyon Praises Address.

Senator Kenyon of Iowa, who represents the Progressive-Republican wing of the party, praised the address.

"It was admirable," he said, "and I am in full accord with it, especially that portion which would fix personal guilt for violation of our trust laws."

Mann Commends Message.

Representative Mann, the minority leader in the house, also commended the message, particularly the suggestion for government regulation of issuance of railroad stocks and bonds.

Bristow More Cautious.

Senator Bristow of Kansas, asserted that he would wait to see the bills which spring from the president's suggestions before he made comment. If the bills are as reactionary as the currency bill he declared, "I certainly will not support them."

Democratic leaders were greatly enthused over the message. Senator Kern declared it would command the admiration and confidence of the country.

The trade commission bill to be introduced in the senate by the inter-state commerce committee it was stated tonight follows very much the form of Newlands bill introduced at the last session. It would provide for a commission of five members with inquisitorial powers, authority to aid the courts in investigations and enforcement of degrees and also to serve as an information bureau to corporations and to aid business in keeping out of trouble.

Private Monopoly "Indefensible."
President Wilson personally laid before a joint session of congress today the fundamental principles of the democratic administration's program for dealing with trusts and "big business." The president presented the case, he said, "as it lies in the thought of the country," reiterating "that private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable," and declaring that conscientious business men throughout the nation would not be satisfied until practices now deprecated by public opinion as restraints of trade and commerce were corrected.

"We are now about to write the additional articles of our constitution of peace," said the president, "the peace that is honor and freedom and prosperity."

Besides suggesting the scope of legislation, the president made a personal appeal for an atmosphere of friendliness and co-operation in congress, while handling the problem.

"The antagonism," he said, "between business and government is over. We are now about to give expression to the best judgment of America, to what we know to be the business conscience and honor of the land. The government and business men are ready to meet each other half way in a common effort to square business methods with both public opinion and the law."

Chief Points Singled Out.
The chief points which the president singled out as a basis for legislation were:

1. Effectual prohibition of the interlocking of directorates of great corporations—banks, railroads, industrial, commercial and public service bodies.

2. A law to confer upon the Interstate Commerce commission the power to superintend and regulate the financial operations by which railroads are henceforth to be supplied with the money they used for their proper development and improved transportation facilities. The president made it clear that "the prosperity of the railroads and the prosperity of the country are inseparably connected," in this regard.

3. Definition of "the many hurtful restraints of trade," by explicit legislation supplementary to the Sherman law.

4. The creation of a commission to aid the courts and to act as a clearing house of information in helping business to conform with the law.

5. Provision of penalties and punishments to fall upon individuals responsible for unlawful business practices.

6. Prohibition of holding companies and a suggestion that the voting power of individuals holding shares in numerous corporations might be restricted.

7. Giving to private individuals the right to found suits for redress on facts and judgments proven in government suits and providing that statute of limitations should run only from the date of conclusion of the government's action.

The President's Message.
The president spoke as follows:

"Gentlemen of the Congress:

"In my report on the state of the union," which I had the privilege of reading to you on the first of December last, I ventured to reserve for discussion at a later date the subject of additional legislation regarding the very difficult and intricate matter of trusts and monopolies. The time now seems opportune to turn to that great question: not only because the currency legislation, which absorbed your attention and the attention of the country in December, is now disposed of, but also because opinion seems to be clearing about us with singular rapidity in this other great field of action. In the matter of the currency I cleared suddenly and very happily after the much-debated act was passed; in respect of the monopolies which have multiplied about us and in regard to the various means by which they have been organized and maintained, it seems to be coming to a clear and all but universal agreement in anticipation of our action, as if by way of preparation, making the way easier to see and easier to set out upon with confidence and without confusion or counsel.

Mutual Understanding Helps.

"Legislation has its atmosphere like everything else and the atmosphere of accommodation and mutual understanding which we now breathe with so much refreshment is matter of sincere congratulation. It ought to make our task very much less difficult and embarrassing than it would have been had we been obliged to continue to act amidst the atmosphere of suspicion and antagonism which has so long made it impossible to approach such questions with dispassionate fairness. Constructive legislation, when successful, is always the embodiment of convincing experience and of the mature public opinion which finally springs out of that experience. Legislation is a business of interpretation not of origination and it is now plain what the opinion is to which we must give effect in this matter. It is not recent or hasty opinion. It springs out of the experience of a whole generation. It has clarified itself by long contest, and those who for a long time battled with it and sought to change it are now frankly and honorably yielding to it and seeking to conform their actions to it.

Ways of Liberty Are Ways of Peace

"The great business men who organized and financed monopoly and those who administered it in actual every day transactions have year after year, until now, either denied its existence or justified it as necessary for the effective maintenance and development of the vast business processes of the country in the modern circumstances of trade and manufacture and finance; but all the while opinion has made headway against them. The average business man is convinced that the ways of liberty are also the ways of peace and the ways of success as well, and at last the matters of business on the great scale have begun to yield their preference and purpose, perhaps their judgment also, in honorable surrender.

Ready To Meet Each Other Half Way

"What we are purposing to do, therefore, is, happily not to hamper or interfere with business as enlightened business men prefer to do it, or in any sense to put it under the ban. The antagonism between business and government is over. We are now about to give expression to the best judgment of America, to what we know to be the business conscience and honor of the land. The government and business men are ready to meet each other half way in a common effort to square business methods with both public opinion and the law. The best informed men of the business world condemn the methods and processes and consequences of monopoly as we condemn them; and instinctive judgment of the vast majority of business men everywhere goes with them. We shall now be their spokesmen. That is the strength of our position and the sure prophecy of what will ensue when our reasonable work is done.

Will Not Disturb Business.

"When serious contest ends, when men unite in opinion and purpose, those who are to change their ways of business joining with those who ask for the change, it is possible to effect it in the way in which prudent and thoughtful and patriotic men would wish to see it brought about, with as few, as slight, as easy and simple business readjustments as possible in the circumstances, nothing essential disturbed, nothing torn up by the roots, no parts rent asunder, which can be left in wholesome combination. Fortunately, no measures of sweeping or novel change are necessary. It will be understood that our object is not to unsettle business or anywhere seriously to break its established courses athwart. On the contrary we desire the laws we are now about to pass to be the bulwarks and safeguards of industry against the forces that have disturbed it. What we have to do can be done in a new spirit, in thoughtful moderation, without revolution of any untoward kind.

"We are all agreed that 'private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable,' and our program is founded upon that conviction. It will be a comprehensive but not a radical or unacceptable program and these are its items, the changes which opinion deliberately sanctions and for which business waits:

Should Allow Sufficient Time.

"It waits with acquiescence, in the first place, for laws which will effectually prohibit and prevent such interlockings of the personnel of the directorates of great corporations—banks and railroads, industrial, commercial and public service bodies—as in effect result in making those who borrow and those who lend practically one and the same, those who sell and those who buy but the same persons trading with one another under different names and in different combinations, and those who affect to compete in fact partners and masters of some whole field of business. Sufficient time should be allowed, of course, in which to effect these changes of organization, without inconvenience or confusion.

"Such a prohibition will work much more than mere negative good by correcting the serious evils which have arisen because, for example, the men who have been the directing spirits of the great investment banks have usurped the place which belongs to independent industrial management working in its own right. It will bring new men, new energies, a new spirit of initiative, new blood, into the management of our great business enterprises. It will open the field of industrial development and origination to scores of men who have been obliged to serve when their abilities entitled them to direct. It will immensely hearten the young men coming on and will greatly enrich the business activities of the whole country.

Great Harm Done Railroads.

"In the second place, business men as well as those who direct public affairs now recognize with painful clearness, the great harm and injustice which has been done to many, if not all, of the great railroad systems of the country by the way in which they have been financed and their own distinctive interests subordinated to the interests of the men who financed them and of other business enterprises which those men wished to promote. The country is ready, therefore, to accept, and accept with relief as well as approval, a law which will confer upon the Interstate Commerce commission the power to superintend and regulate the financial operations by which the railroads are henceforth to be supplied with the money they need for their proper development to meet the rapidly growing requirements of the country for increased and improved facilities of transportation. We cannot postpone action in this matter without leaving the railroads exposed to many serious handicaps and hazards; and the prosperity of the country are inseparably connected. Upon this question those who are chiefly responsible for the actual management and operation of the railroads have spoken very plainly and very earnestly, with a purpose we ought to be quick to accept. It will be one step, and a very important one, toward the necessary separation of the business of production from the business of transportation.

Uncertainty Hampers Business.

"The business of the country awaits also, long awaited and has suffered because it could not obtain, further and more explicit legislative definition of the policy and meaning of the existing anti-trust law. Nothing hampers business like uncertainty. Nothing daunts or discourages it like the necessity to take chances, to run the risk of falling under the condemnation of the law before it can make sure what the law is. Surely we are sufficiently familiar with the actual processes and methods of monopoly and of the many hurtful restraints of trade to make definition possible, at any rate up to the limits of what experience has disclosed. These practices, being now abundantly disclosed, can be explicitly and item by item forbidden by statute in such terms as will practically eliminate uncertainty, the law itself and the penalty being made equally plain.

"And the business men of the country desire something more than that the menace of legal process in these matters be made explicit and intelligible. They desire the advice, the definite guidance and information which can be supplied by an administrative body, an interstate trade commission.

Will Approve Commission.

"The opinion of the country would instantly approve of such a commission. It would not wish to see it empowered to make terms with monopoly or in any sort to assume control of business, as if the government made itself responsible. It demands such a commission only as an indispensable instrument of information and publicity, as a clearinghouse for the facts by which both the public mind and the managers of great business undertakings should be guided, and as an instrumentality for doing justice to business where the processes of the courts or the natural forces of correction outside the courts are inadequate to adjust the remedy to the wrong in a way that will meet all the equities and circumstances of the case.

"Producing industries, for example, which have passed the point up to which combination may be consistent with the public interest and the freedom of trade, cannot always be dissected into their component units as readily as railroad companies or similar organizations can be. Their dissolution by ordinary legal process may oftentimes involve financial consequences likely to overwhelm the security market and being upon it break down and confusion. There ought to be an administrative commission capable of directing and shaping such corrective processes, not only in aid of the courts but also by independent suggestion, if necessary.

Should Punish Individuals.

"Inasmuch as our object and the spirit of our action in these matters is to meet business half way in its processes of self-correction and to disturb its legitimate courses a little as possible, we ought to see to it, that penalties and punishments should fall, not upon business itself, to its confusion and interruption, but upon the individuals who use the instrumentalities of business to do things which public policy and sound business practice condemn. Every act of business is done at the command or upon the initiative of some ascertainable person or group of persons. These should be held individually responsible and the punishment should fall upon them, not upon the business organization of which they make illegal use. It should be one of the main objects of our legislation to drive such persons of their corporate cloak and deal with them as with those who do not represent their corporations, but merely by deliberate intention break the law. Business men the country through would, I am sure, applaud us if we were to take effectual steps to see that the officers and directors of great business bodies were prevented from bringing them into the business of the country to do things which are disruptive and dangerous.

Should Prohibit Holding Companies.

"Other questions remain which will need very thoughtful and practical treatment. Enterprises, in those modern days of great individual fortunes, are often-times interlocked, not by being under the control of the same directors, but by the fact that the greater part of their corporate stock is owned by a single person or group of persons who are in some way intimately related in interest. We are agreed, I take it, that holding companies should be prohibited, but what of the controlling private ownership of individuals or actually co-operative groups of individuals? Shall the private owners of capital stock be suffered to be themselves in effect holding companies? We do not wish, I suppose, to forbid the purchase of stocks by any person who pleases to buy them in such quantities as he can afford, or in any way arbitrarily to limit the sale of stocks to bonafide purchasers. Shall we require the owners of stock, when their voting power in several companies which ought to be dependent of one another would constitute actual control, to make election in which of them they will exercise their rights to vote? This question I venture for your consideration.

For Individual Justice.

"There is another matter in which imperative considerations of justice and fair play suggest thoughtful remedial action. Not only do many of the combinations effected or sought to be effected in the industrial world work an injustice upon the public in general; they also directly and seriously injure the individuals.

THAT TIRED FEELING

Suggests Grandmother's Remedy. It's true, the season is here with its sudden changes, and the old idea that we need a blood medicine is not without reason. Too much heavy food has caused a torpid liver, sluggish blood, and a weak, tired feeling.

Sulphur, cream of tartar and molasses was grandmother's remedy but that has long ago been his placed by Vinol, a combination of the two most world famed tonics, namely, the medicinal curative elements of the cod's liver, without oil, and iron for the blood.

Vinol builds you up, makes you eat more and digest better, makes your blood rich and pure—puts healthy color in your cheeks. N. G. Clift of Opelika, Ala., says "Last spring I was all run-down, no strength, no appetite. I took Vinol and was greatly benefited by its use, as I soon felt strong and well as ever."

We guarantee Vinol to satisfy you and refund your money if it does not. Lee P. Alcott, Druggist, Jacksonville, Ill.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S MESSAGE STRIKES RESPONSIVE CHORD.

Individuals who are put out of business in one unfair way or another by the many dislodging and exterminating forces of combination. I hope that we shall agree in giving private individuals who claim to have been injured by these processes the right to found their suits for redress upon the facts and judgments prove and entered in suits by the government where the government has upon its own initiative sued the combinations complained of and won its suit, and that the statute of limitations shall be suffered to run against such litigants only from the date of the conclusion of the government's action. It is not fair that the private litigant should be obliged to set up and establish again the facts which the government has proved. He cannot afford, he has not the power, to make use of such processes of inquiry as the government has command of. Thus shall individual justice be done while the processes of business are rectified and squarred with the general conscience.

Must Satisfy Business Men. "I have laid the case before you, no doubt as it lies in your own mind, as it lies in the thought of the country. What must every candid man say of the suggestions I have laid before you of the plain obligations of which I have reminded you? That these are new things for which the country is not prepared? No; but that they are old things, now familiar, and must of course, be undertaken if we are to square our laws with the thought and desire of the country. Until these things are done, conscientious business men the country over will be unsatisfied. We are now about to write the additional articles of our constitution of peace, the peace that is honor and freedom and prosperity."

WILSON'S ANTI-TRUST RECOMMENDATIONS HAVE LITTLE EFFECT

Stocks Move In Same Irregular Way After Message Appears, Closing with Small Gains for Representative Issues.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—President Wilson's recommendations to congress regarding anti-trust legislation were of little effect on the stock market. For several days previously speculation was curtailed and traders marked time pending publication of the message. It was assumed that the message would have an important part in shaping speculative sentiment but the action of the market was disappointing to those who looked for an immediate response. After the message appeared the market moved in the same irregular way as during the previous portion of the session, closing with small gains for representative stocks. The apathetic attitude of the market probably was due to the fact that the message contained no important features for which the street was not prepared. Advice from Washington since the president's return from the south indicated the position he was expected to take and it was these indications which were primarily responsible for last week's advance in the market. The message closely paralleled forecasts and traders found in it no new features which they could seize upon as a basis for operations. It was thought that later, when sufficient time had elapsed for more careful study of the message and crystallization of sentiment, the effect upon the market might be more pronounced. At the outset the market was slightly lower but movements were unusually narrow throughout the early session. Following publication of the president's message prices rose for a time but when it became apparent that the little progress could be made in that direction traders sold the market, on the theory that the effect of message had been discounted. Prices were sent down to the low level of the day but in the last hour they were bid up strongly. Reading again reflected persistent realization that as has been in progress for several days. Canadian Pacific was affected by European selling and for a time showed a loss of more than two points. Petroleum shares, particularly Mexican, were strong.

SCALP TROUBLE FOR OVER TEN YEARS

Small Bunches on Scalp, Itched, Formed Scales. Hair Came Out. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment Cured in Two Months.

268 Harrison St., Elyria, Ohio.—"My case was a scalp trouble. I first noticed small bunches on my scalp which commenced to itch and I would scratch them and in time they got larger, forming a scale or scab with a little pus, and chunks of hair would come out when I would scratch them off. It caused me to lose most of my hair. It became thin and dry and lifeless. I was troubled for over ten years with it until it got so bad I was ashamed to go to a barber to get my hair cut.

"I tried everything I could get hold of, and received no cure until I commenced using Cuticura Soap and Ointment when the scale commenced to disappear. The way I used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment was to wash my scalp twice a day with warm water and Cuticura Soap and rub on the Cuticura Ointment. I received benefit in a couple of weeks and was cured in two months." (Signed) F. J. Busher, Jan. 28, 1913.

Why not have a clear skin, soft white hands, a clean scalp and good hair? It is your birthright. Cuticura Soap with an occasional use of Cuticura Ointment will bring about these coveted conditions in most cases when all else fails. Sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

See Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for scalp and scalp.

D. C. DILTZ HAS BEEN IN RAILROAD WORK LONG PERIOD.

Began as Boy and Has Seen Twenty-Five Years Service.

Chicago & Alton agent D. C. Diltz, has had an interesting career and is rounding out his quarter of a century as a railroad man.

He was left a poor boy and had almost no opportunity to go to school getting nothing in that line after he was thirteen years old. He began as member of an extra section gang on the Missouri Pacific road and worked three years in the vicinity of McCracken, Kansas, and elsewhere, then he went to the Rock Island road and worked where was then the Cherokee outlet, now an important part of the state of Oklahoma and worked three years in that country still with the shovel.

Meanwhile he noticed that the road employed a good many men at the telegraph instruments so he thought he might do better and being industrious and quick he used his spare time studying with kind hearted operators to teach him and he applied himself diligently. He was soon able to handle an instrument and went to Chicago and served in a number of the suburban stations of the Rock Island about the great city. Then he was sent to Dalhart, Texas, by the Rock Island as station agent.

In May, 1906, he went to the Alton and was stationed at Joliet till August of that year when he became agent at Jacksonville. He is one of the men who have risen from the ranks to his present position. During the years he has been representing the road in this city the writer, who is well acquainted with the railroad people and the many patrons of the Chicago & Alton railroad, has never once heard a criticism of Mr. Diltz' conduct. He is always kind and courteous and ready to supply all possible information and do a good turn when it is his power.

McSHANE CANDIDATE FOR SENATOR

James C. McShane of Chicago has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator.

Mr. McShane was born in Litchfield, Ill., December 12, 1862, of Irish parentage, but was reared in Mattoon, Ill., where he father was employed as a mechanic in the railroad shops. At sixteen he entered the railroad shops at Mattoon, as an apprentice to the sheet metal trade and subsequently worked at his trade in Mount Vernon, Peoria and Chicago. While working at his trade he spent his evenings preparing for a legal course, and in 1884 he entered the law office of Craig & Craig, at Mattoon, where he read law until 1887, when he was admitted to the bar. He at once engaged in the practice of law in Chicago, where he has practiced for 27 years. He has made a specialty of personal injury cases.

Five other car loads averaging 1590 to 1692 at $9.40. The above, with around 15 car loads, $9.15 to $9.30 held full steady with last week's best time. Liberal supply good enough to sell from $8.75 to $9.10. Butcher stock market opened steady, but closed lower. Best heifers, $8.10. Bull prices unchanged. Feeders generally steady. Calves, 25 to 50c decline. We quote native beef cattle:

Heifers, $5.50 to $9.10.
Bulls, $5.50 to $7.25.

Canners and cutters, $3.50 to $4.50.
Common heavy calves to good vealers, $5.75 to $10.75.

Kansas City Market
Kansas City Stock Yards, Jan. 19.

Sales of thin cattle here last week aggregated 15,000 head, 2,000 more than in the previous week, and the same number in excess in corresponding week a year ago. Prices remained steady to strong through the week, and the leading feature was that demand for stock grades grew stronger, while the call for feeders waned. High costing beef, due to poor finish of bulk of killing cattle, together with warmer weather, has checked the healthy rise in progress on beef cattle, and thereby caused prospective feeder buyers to hold back, or invest in stock cattle. "A good many cattle of the yearling class are being bought here at Kansas City by farmers of my neighborhood," stated P. T. Perry of Shelby county, Missouri, here last week and continued, "in buying light weight cattle we graze them through the summer and feed in the fall, but if we take out heavy steers we will be compelled to feed them out in the spring." Illinois men stated corn could now be secured at 65 cents in their state, but that the volume of feeding was comparatively light. Receipts here today are 14,000 cattle, and the proportion of stockers and feeders in the supply is even greater than last week, and is running exceptionally heavy for January. High costing feed and lack of it in some sections are reasons given for the many thin cattle now coming. The market is steady to strong on stockers and feeders today, good to choice stock steers, $7.00 to $7.75. These prices are a shade lower than prices a year ago. A few half fat steers bring around $8.00 and fancy overgrown stock calves bring the same figure.

View of New York's New Aqueduct
Which Cost City $152,000,000.

New York city has produced one of the modern wonders of the world in its new Catskill mountain aqueduct, costing $152,000,000. The final dynamite blast was set off by Mayor Mitchell after workmen had prepared everything for the completing explosion at the New York end of the big waterway. The water will be carried in the fifteen foot tube from the Ashokan reservoir in the Catskill mountains ninety-six miles to New York. It will provide 500,000,000 gallons of fresh, pure mountain water a day. The photo shows the tunnel where the mayor blasted the opening that completed the great tube.

DELIVERED LECTURE ON SOCIALISM.

J. O. Bentall Gave Outline of Purposes and Scope of the Movement Emphasized Waste of Human Energy in Production.

The lecture given at the court house last night by Mr. J. O. Bentall of Chicago was well attended, and every one was well pleased with the way in which he simplified the subject.

He gave a brief outline of the purposes and aims of the movement, explaining the difference between strength and power. "Power," said Mr. Bentall, "rules the world, and while the working class possess all strength, they have no power." The first prerequisite of power was said to be intelligence, education; the next, organization and united action. The working people produce all things, but they produce them for others because they have conferred the ownership of the means of production upon others, as a consequence of which they must ask permission of another for the privilege of producing the means of life. They possess all of the strength in the world, but they have given the power which they should rightly possess to another, and they could only regain it by taking possession of, and owning and operating the means by which they must live.

The speaker said that the possession of all material things that were essential to the physical well being of many, was but the beginning of life in its proper sense, and that socialism would establish a condition of society wherein, for the first time man could live a full and complete life. Also, he gave particular attention to the waste of human energy under the present mode of production.

"There are ninety million people in this country; about thirty million are performing labor of some kind. Less than ten million are actually doing useful work. That means that every person doing useful labor must support nine persons whether they are idle or engaged in useless labor."

The speaker laid stress on the fact that the power of the workers must not only be based on intelligence and organization, but on manhood as well, and said that the socialist movement was developing those qualities to an extent that the world has never known before.

Tonight the speaker will deal with the Calumet strike and the accusations against "Mother Jones" and president Moyer, and also, show the relation of the present economic unrest, and the new currency bill.

Every citizen of Jacksonville is invited to the court house tonight. Anyone may ask questions.

Mangled Names.

I remember one London critic telling me, writes E. N. in the Birmingham Post, how he had wired to a Glasgow paper the news that the great Nikisch had just arrived and would conduct the London Symphony orchestra on such-and-such a date. The telegraph operator, as usual, spelled the unfamiliar name along the line of least resistance. The Glasgow subeditor, not being a musical man, had never heard of Nikisch, but, as the adjective "great" was prefixed to the name, he naturally assumed that he must be a Scotchman, so the Glasgow public was informed the next day that the great McKish had arrived in London.

I remember also a London colleague reduced to a state of collapse by discovering that he had been made to say that Andrew Black had sung "Nimpho Andrew" instead of "Non plu andrat."

FUNERALS

Johnston.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon for Mrs. C. D. Johnston from her home southwest of city. Services were in charge of Rev. J. W. Miller of Grace church. Miss Stella Shuff and Philip Read sang beautifully "Jesus Lover of My Soul" (Mrs. Johnston's favorite hymn), and "Saved by Grace," and Miss Shuff as a solo gave "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere."

The bearers were all but one, early friends of Mrs. Johnston, as follows: Charles and Jesse Jackson, Thomas Richards, W. W. Carter, Hugh Shepherd and Ernest Sibert.

The beautiful flowers were cared for by Miss Hildegard Sibert and Annie Long.

Mrs. Johnston's life was spent in sacrificing for others. Her character was one most beautiful. Young as well as old people loved her deeply for her kindly consideration and sweet sympathy. She was never too tired or busy to help others, to comfort the little child, and to praise or encourage her loved ones in all undertakings. To know her was to love her and her sweet influence could not help but be felt by those who came in contact with her.

Being an invalid for twenty years Mrs. Johnston seldom left her home and her pleasures were few outside of her family circle. Though suffering much she was uncomplaining. All her trust was in her Lord and her faith and confidence in His goodness was pure and childlike. And when the end of her earthly life drew near her faith grew stronger and she was ready and eager to meet her saviour. If asked how she felt she would reply "A little weaker; one day nearer home."

Mrs. Johnston was a consistent member of Grace church and though seldom attending she was keenly interested in all church work and prayed daily for those doing the Christian work she longed to do. Her life on earth has ended but her sweet influence shall never die and her life beyond shall be for ever and ever.

"Her life was an inspiration; her memory a benediction."

One who loved her.

A PLAY WITH A GREAT LESSON Inquiry is often made as to the effect, if any, of the continued display of emotions upon the individuality of an actress. Is her view of life warped by the constant playing of stage roles foreign to her nature? Does she eventually reflect any part of such characters? Few women of today have appeared in such a varied list of roles as Louise Dunbar, who comes to the grand Friday in the big spectacular religious drama, "The Light Eternal," and few are better able to pass opinion on the influence of various characterizations. Miss Dunbar seems to be of the opinion that an actress must inevitably absorb some part of the good or bad qualities of her role if she continues its interpretation long enough.

Nine names were added to the list of guarantors, Messrs. C. P. Ehlers, J. R. Harker, Carl Weber, C. H. Kopperl, Thos. Hopper, C. B. Massey, J. T. Hoffman, Mrs. Luella Henry of Woodson, Harry M. Capps.

J. H. Shaw emphasized the necessity of providing for a program which would be popular enough to draw while supplying educational and improving ideas also. The people must be pleased and attracted and we must remember that what would attract us will not always fill the treasury.

E. F. Johnston said it would be a great improvement and would increase the attendance if the long walk from the street car line to the grounds could be eliminated.

S. W. Nichols for the park commission said they had had several conferences with Mr. Miser on the subject. It had been suggested if practicable to run the street car track down west of the Chicago & Aton right of way to the lake, turn in and run east to the park bridge, then for a loop to go to the refreshment stand, the monkey house, around the closets, back to the line. He hardly could see the need of a loop as little time would be saved as the trolley could be quickly changed. The street railway company had suggested running into the park in front or north of the pavilion but that the commission never would stand for and he felt sure the people would endorse the action. The commission desired to do everything in their power for the success of the enterprise, not to be stubborn or contrary but to seek the best interests of all concerned.

Mr. Johnston thought the entrance could not be under the railroad track as there would not be enough room.

S. W. Nichols said an overhead bridge had been suggested. Also the park commission would permit the chautauqua to be held right by the lake next to the railroad bridge on the north side and thus be near but there would be little shade.

Several objected to that plan and thought the past location the best. Dr. Crouch thought it would be well to induce various districts to take part in a pageant each representing some historical epoch.

The by-laws printed were adopted with a few amendments.

The following directors were chosen: Dr. C. E. Black, Bernard Gause, C. R. Knollenberg, three years; J. W. Merrigan, A. C. Rice, Dr. J. R. Harker, two years; C. H. Rammelkamp, Dr. Josephine Milligan and Frank J. Heintz, one year.

A directors meeting was called at the chamber of commerce rooms, Friday, Jan. 23rd, at four p. m.

TAX FIGURES FOR TWO YEARS GIVE INTERESTING COMPARISONS

Valuations Increase By $372,064—State Tax Greater in 1913 By $86,554.83—Jacksonville School Tax Less.

The Morgan County tax books are ready for the collector and will be turned over speedily as the only cause for delay now is a technical error in Collector Rogers' bond. The big task of extending the taxes was completed several days since by County Clerk Boruff and his deputies.

The statement of valuations of property and of taxes charged thereon for the year 1913 present some interesting figures by comparison with that of 1912. While the increase in valuation of property the past year is given at $372,064 by comparison with 1912 it is also true that the taxes for 1913 to be collected this year will be greater by $86,554.83. This is largely due to the fact that in 1912 the state tax was $67,173.68 whereas for 1913 it is $126,403.94.

The other increases come largely in the road districts, the total for 1912 being $43,211.89 while for 1913 it is fixed at $81,122.56. The Jacksonville school tax shows a decrease as it was $86,116.86 in 1912 while for 1913 the figures are $77,928.56.
